

BC FED Health & Safety Centre

aliveafterfive.ca

100427 1/15/17

WE WANT YOU!

THE AA5 FACTS

1/3

of workplace injuries reported are from young workers, mainly due to lack of experience and fear of voicing health and safety concerns.

AA5 is a unique peer to peer education program

Young workers talking to young workers - discussing their workplace health and safety rights and employers responsibilities.

Young workers are at the front of the line when it comes to workplace vulnerability.

Since 2001 AA5 has spoken to over 200,000

Young Workers

in high schools across BC

THE STEPS TO BEING A FACILITATOR

Check us out at aliveafterfive.ca and on 1

Get in touch with Jenn Lambert (jlambert@bcfed.ca) with Facilitator application or any questions!

2

Facilitator Training! All new facilitators are paired up with various senior facilitators to train in the classroom, plus a 2-day training session each year in Vancouver

3

Out on your own, empowering young workers with workers' rights knowledge

4

THE COMMITMENT

12

classes a year

We ask that you facilitate 12 classes a year, most facilitators are out 4-10 times a month. You choose what works for you!

THE PROCESS

We use union leaves to book you off. We cover expenses - mileage, per diems for meals, hotels plus other expense that occur. Travel the province, or stay close to home.

THE BENEFITS

You will gain valuable skills, public speaking, popular education delivery and about Occupational Health and Safety.

Many of our facilitators over the years have moved into key roles within their unions and some have even been inspired to go back to school and have become teachers.

You will also be able to network with other Young Workers from various areas of our provinces and many different unions. We all learn from each other to share our wealth of knowledge to be passed on to others, who may be marginalized or vulnerable in our communities.