THE LAW

- ✓ Joint Health and Safety Committees are legally required in workplaces with more than 20 employees. Workplaces with less than 20 employees require a worker-designated Health and Safety Representative.
- ✓ Section 135 of the Workers' Compensation Act (WCA) requires the employer to pay for a committee member or worker-representative's chosen training course as well as provide annual educational leave without loss of pay. (Federal and Mining OHS Legislation has similar requirements)
- ✓ New sections to the WCB Occupational Health and Safety Regulation took effect April 3, 2017:
- ✓ Section 3.27: Establishes mandatory minimum training and education for new joint committee members and worker-representatives. (*This is in addition to the annual eight-hour education entitlement for OHS committee members in Section 135 of the WCA)
- ✓ Section 3.26: Requires an annual evaluation to measure the effectiveness of joint committees by the co-chairs.
- ✓ Section 3.28: Requires worker-representatives to be involved with the gathering, analyzing and identifying of corrective actions in workplace incident investigations.
- ✓ The Centre receives its program funding from WCB. When training is requested the employer must act in a manner consistent with the purpose and intent of section 135. Permission must not be unreasonably denied.
